ABOUT ME

Thanks to my dual training, both in catering, in IT and a sum of successful professional experience, I have acquired a certain rigor, a sense of organization and an ability to adapt very easily. Teamwork and speed of execution are in essence essential values in catering, which I wish to put at the service of the job of web developer. I no longer wish to be a spectator but an actor in this world in perpetual change and renewal. Thanks to my double training in back and front-end, it allowed me to take into account my preferences for the front, UI/UX and especially concerning Three.js and webXR
